FORGERY OF CURRENCY

Some time back, says the Rangood Times of March 7, is will be remembered a large number of forged currency notes of "the denomination of Rs. 10 were floated in Rangoon. The Police succeeded in arresting a Chinaman, who was convicted at the Chief Court Session. . The police, howeyer, have not allowed the matter to rest "there, but have been working quietly toget at the source of supply. It is believed that they have now succeeded in doing so, and a letter from the Superintendent of Police, Batavia, conveying the news that a Chinese resident of that town, named Phos Ban Sick, had been arrested there on a charge of having forged currency nates of the Government of India of Rs. 10 each, is very entisfactory. Several of the instruments used in forging these notes had been found in his possession, as well; as a packet of 134 counterfeit notes, Bive of these were sent to the Commissioner of Police, Rangoon, and to believe we are right in saying that they are "dontical with the series seized here. The public may therefore feel re-assured in the matter of these notes continuing to be Lorgaci.

A stray ballet apparently from the King's Park rifle range was yesterday found embedded in a wooden window frame by the Kwong Wah hospital. Anrether bullet was found recently at the same hospital which is also supposed to have come from King's Park.

LEAGUE INTERNATIONAL.

The 22nd match between teams representing the Scottish and English Leagues was decided at Hampdon Park, Glasgow, and ended in a victory for the home team by 4 goals to 1. The sides were characteristic of the countries : the Scottish forwards were chosen as much for their facility for blending as for their individual cleverness; the English attack was on the usual lines, fast outside men to make ground, and unselfish inside forwards who could make or utilise an opening. The result was that E'glish side was even more disappointing than the score record. On the other hand, the Scottish forwards amply fulfilled expectations, and played as if they had been clubmates, from the kickoff to the fourth goal showing a delightful understanding. Indeed, the Englishmen were so routed that the game degenerated into a farce, and the unwonted spectacle was seen of three Scottish forwards-Smith and M'Menemy having gone lamemore than holding their own against a demoralised defence. The first goal was scored by a Scottish player against his own side, but this only nerved the Scots to effort, and nothing finer has been seen in an International than the manner in which they hommed in their opponents allowing Reid to equalise. Once on the lead, the home team were not to be held: and the Englishmen became demoralised. Dodds scored from a penalty for fouling. for the Championship; and since then they Then Reid once more beat the goalkeeper, and this third success was quickly followed by a fourth from Mercer. In the second half, content with their substantial lead, the Scots eased up, allowing the visitors Edinburgh University on an equality with to come into the game for the first time. Several good shots were made for 415 the home goal, but all were well fielded; indeed only once was the attack Glasgow club in undoubted possession of at all severs. After allowing their the first place. In Saturday's match they fielded; indeed only once was the attack opponents considerable latitude, the Scots | did not begin well, but later they develop again settled down to dazzling footwork, and, aware that further goals were of no to the ball, they managed to get a strong value, proceeded in lighter vein to show land. Internationalists like J.M. B. Scott the visitors the possibilities of effective and G. H. Marwell on the one side and J. combination without seeking to drive A. S. Ritson and G. M'Connell on the home the advantage. By these tactice, the English team were more humiliated than if they had lost four more goals; and when Smith and M'Menemy retired tone down play that had become almost humorous in its one-sidedness. Taken and paid the penalty. whole, the game may be said to be as much a triumph for Scottish methods as for the Scottish eleven. The traditional close passing was never better exploited. and the English halves were ou played because they were asked to cope with an attack to which they were not accustomed. BCOTTISH LEAGUE. Rangers' success at Kilmarnock was nut-able because several of their regular player were indented for the International; but the substitutes turned cutso well that after twenty minutes there was no doubt about be points. They are now only a point behind Celtic, and have a match in hand. Third Lauark succumbed to Airdriconians from a goal in the closing minutes. Aberdeen played well against St. Mirren, who, however, were palpably saving themselves for their Cup Tie.

Raith Rovers gave Hibernians a surprise in the third round of the Cup, the replay APRIL 5: showing that the Fifeshare lads are surely coming into their own in the front rank of clubs. The Irishmen, however, were not at their strongest, due to illness and

Through an unexpected defeat by Gala early in the season, they were put out of the running have devoted themselves to wrecking the records of other teams. Certainly they have added not a little sait to the game during past months. By defeating Glasgow

Academicals, for instance, they placed the Anniesland side in the Championship and now, to make "matters pleasant al round," they have dethroned the Edin burgh students, and once more placed the ed a strong rushing game and with the Varsity backs not over keen to go down other, played fine football; but it was the young bloods who made the pace. W. M. Crabbie, a younger brother of the old nationalist three-quarters, is developing on right lines, and so is W. H. White: jured to the pavilion they did much to A. M. STRENGTH FAILING and How to Restore it.

WHY the physical and nervous strength should diminish in those who lead normal lives is difficult to explain. The fact remains that it does, as it weakens in those who burn the candle at both ends in business or in pleasure.

Whatever the cause of this lack of strength, which makes the sufferer listless, weary, and absolutely indifferent to everything except the condition of his health, his overwhelming desire is to restore his strength that he may feel fit and able to enjoy his life once more. What such a man needs is a ford which will rapidly remove the feling of wealth and replace it with one of strength. For this purpose nothing can compare with Sanatogen, of which Dr Ott. Physician Extraordinary to His late Majesty King Edward VII., writes: "I have been using Sanatogen for a number of years in my practice, with excellent results. These results have been notably good in cases of convalescence after severe illnesses, especially those of an infectious nature, and also when it was desirable to build up the strength, to stimulate the bodily functions and improve the circula-

Nearly-sixteen thousand other physicians have written in similar strain, and so have many distinguished men. Among them is a member of His Majesty's Privy Council, and, therefore, a.man whose position gives his words peculiar weight. He writes "Sanatogen seems both to nourish me and give me strongth."

Sanstogen which may be obtained of all Chemists, never fails to do this to everyone who takes it.

A CHINESE PRINCE'S COLLECTION.

Messrs. Christie held on March 5th and 6th a two days' sale of the Chinese curvings in jade and other objects of art formed by Prince Kung Pu Wei, of Peking, great-grandson, of the famous Emperor Tao Kwang. The sale of 107 lets on the first day produced £3,903

Catarrh Digestive Organs.

The soothing, healing, and tonic properties of Angier's Emulsion eminently adapt it to the relief and cure of atomach and bowel disorders of a catarrhal, fermentative, nicerative or tubercular nature. Simple and harmless, this remedy exercises its soothing, lubricating effects throughout the entire alimentary tract. It arrests fermentation, checks bacterial growth, and promotes normal, healthy action of the bowels. Angior's Emulsion has proved most efficacious in gastric or intestinal catarrh, gastric ulcer, mucous colitis, chronic indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, chronic constipation, and in many obscure bowel disorders.

Completely Cured my Stomach Catarrh. Donr Sira,-For many yours I have used Angier's Emulsion for throat and lungs, and always with beneficial results. Of late-I have been suffering from enterth of the stomach. accompanied by an unhealthy action of the bowels. Knowing the soothing effects of Angler's Emulsion on the stomach, I determined to give it a trial, and am pleased to tall you that It has completely cured my stomach catarrh, and has also put my bowers right. I did not before know that Angles's Emulaion was good for bowel troubles, but in my case, at any rate, it has proved the right thing. It is almost five years since I first began with the Emulsion, and from my experience I can thoroughly re-

LITERARY NOTES.

Messrs. Methuen present their complimonts. They have pleasure in enclosing the following information, which they think may be of interest to the public, and they will be grateful if it can be used A new novel entitled "The Adventures of Dr. Whitty," by George A. Birmingham, whose humorous stories of Irish life are so well known, will be published by Mossrs. Methuen on March 13th. All 20 | who have seen Mr. Birmingham's very successful play "General John Rogan, now being acted by Mr. Charles Hawtrey, should read this book. Dr. Whitty is a person of some importance in the town of Ballintra, situated in Western Connacht. In his efforts to benefit the town, to help those in any kind of difficulty and to purify the public life of the place, he meets with a series of adventures of an been proposed in patent specifications. Beadle and Stevens agree with Seidl, who found that not all resins are of equal value in this respect. The proteins and resins might act as sulphur-carriers, and facilitate vulcunisation. But the question arises, whether the reticulated structure of the compounds, pointed out by Gladstone and Hibbert, is essential. That it should be so, seems to be indicated by the researches of Beadle and Stevens, who found that masticated rubber behaved differently from rubber which had not mechanically been worked; the structure would hardly survive mastication. On the other hand, the addition to the rubber of later. various catalysts, like litharge, which fusion. are acknowledged to favour the vulcanisation, cannot impart a reticulated subject is still obscure; the paper mentioned was only a preliminary account, and it was suggested, during the discussion of the paper, that overcuring had apparently taken place, so

THE RESINS IN RUBBER AND SYNTHETIC RUBBER.

WHEN the researches on synthetic held at the Happy Valley on Monday. rubber by C. D. Harries and by Fritz Hofmann, of the Elberfeld Farbenfabriken (Bayer and Co.), caused a stir some years ago, we, says 'Engineering" (in the course of an admirable article on this subject) ventured to point out that the so-called impurities of india-rubber, the resins and protein like substances. be as essential as the chief constituent of the rubber, the hydrocarbon (C₁₀ H₁₀). Recent investigations prove that the resins certainly exert an important influence on the strength of rubber, its constancy and its capability of being vulcanised, and for this reason we wish to revert to We understand it is their intention to $5,720,712.31. the subject though we dealt with it as recently as last December. Gladstone and Hibbert observed in 1888 that chloroform would slowly dissolve the whole of the hydrocarbon contained in Para rubber (the latex of herea Brasiliensis), but that a network of an insoluble, nitrogeous body would be left. The observation, like herbs. The man's body was removed to many others, was overlooked. One the mortuary. of the reasons may have been that the separation of the soluble and insoluble constituents is no longer possible when the rubber has been mechanically worked, rolled or masticated. By treating unsmoked plantation sheet (not worked), with benzene for weeks, Olayton Beadle and Henry P. Stevens quite recently succeeded in separating a caoutchouc solution of pale golden colour, almost free from nitrogen, from to 7 per cent. of nitrogen. solutions yielded rubber on evaporatanalysed and mechanically tested after vulcanisation, together with specimens of the original product. It resulted that the pale rubber free from proteins was mechanically weaker and less stable than the dark rubber. The purer rubber was also sticky, possibly owing to an imperfect evaporation of the benzene. point of interest nitrogen-free, purer product resembled synthetic rubber more than the impure product, and that it could be vulcanised with difficulty only. That Para rubber, when deprived of most of its matural resins, would not

"Gipsy Love."

The Bandmann Opera Company opened their season at the Theatre Royal last hight to a house the dimensions of which augured well for a very successful season at Hongkong.

For some years now Mr. Bandmann has brought theatrical companies to the East and has given " exiles" the opportunity of seeing the latest London nusical comedies, but on this occasion to has gathered together a company which comprises some very clever performers, oth as regards principals and chorus. Although there are many new faces, we were glad to see some of the old favourtes, and especially Mr. Alfred Frith, a comedian who has delighted us all in the just, and proved last night that he still possesses in a high degree the power of intertaining and amusing. "Gipsy Love," which the management shose for representation on the first two lights has often been described as an operatta, by which we suppose is meant musical play rather above the "musical comedy" to which we are accustomed to-day. The music is by the composer A "The Merry Widow "-Franz Leharand although "Gipsy Love" can never stope to enjoy the popularity of the older work, it contains a great deal of charmag music, which delicately treated, makes it very acceptable. Unlike most inusical comedies, too, it has a story, .nto the story music largely enters. plobably accounts for the play having den likened to opers. There is in it, of course, the inevitable waltz song, the espetition of which only serves to knock it more indelibly on to one's brain;—it cannot be forgetten until another musical comedy is visited, and still another wultz song is committed to memory and takes the place of the former one. The story, in short, is of a maiden of Soumania, who en her betrothal day eserts her lover, and leaning to the lovereaking of a Tzigano gipsy, fices away ith him, only to find that his love is of the butterfly description. Her awakening to this fact is largely due to the assistsuce of an English lady, to whose charms the gipsy turns his attention. The wayyard lass returns to her parent and lover, is forgiven, and a couple of brace betrothals and imaginary wedding bells give the show a "happy ever after inding, for all the principals manage to pair off somehow. In the leading role if Rona, Miss May Glenn scored a success that was unmistakable. She has a soprano voice of considerable power, but which she can modulate to make her numers very effective. She sings an opening solo when the comedy commences vith the curtain down, and this makes a ery charming impression. Special mention, too, should be made of Miss Glenn's ino singing of the looking-glass song he second set, which was a very popular unibor, for she not only sang, but acted he music very realistically. Mr. James McGrath was the gipsy singer, Joszi, and to has a tenor voice which blended well vith Miss Glenn's in several fine duets. in fact "Gipsy Love" abounds in ducts if a very high order but we are afraid that some of them did not get the careful treatment that they should have done. I increase of income which disqualified her is Drogotin, a Roumanian noble. Mr. Victor Gouriet was capital, and was reponsible for a good deal of fun: His jokes were erisp, and his scenes with Miss sum, it was considered that insistence on a Violet Frampton as Lady Babby were, is a rule; good burlesque. Miss Frampton has some important music to sing, and, although on the whole she did very woll, there were times when she was decidedly at fault. A good, deal of life was infused into the production by Mr. Alfred Frith as Kajeten and Miss Moyna Hill as Joian. Their singing, denving and jesting gave the show a brightness that would have been missed had the parts been in less capable hands. Their duct in the second act was encored several times. Mr. F. W. Armstrong. a good tenor, sang well in the role of Jonel, Hous's betrothed, whilst Mr. Fred Crossoy also acquitted himself well as the inn-keoper, both in the matter of singing

A CANVASSER'S PROMISEC

In the Summary Court this in before the Acting Puisne Judge, Mr. Kemp, a woman named Tang Yuen Shan sued Loung Houng Ngal, who described himself as a canvasser, to recover $200 alleged to be due on a promissory note. Mr. Crawe, of Mesers. Hastings and Hastings, represented the plaintiff, and Mr. J. H. Gardiner appeared for the defendant.

Plaintiff stated in evidence that she co-habited with defendant for five years and he left her dourteen months ago. When her daughter was married she received a sum of $800 from the bridegroom and defendant borrowed $30 of this to redeem a promissory note. She paid the money for him and afterwards handed him the note, which he destroyed. Later she lent him sums of $50 and $100 respectively, and he gave her a promissor note for

Mr. Gardiner admitted the signature of the note but stated that defendant never. borrowed money from the woman. Finding that he was unable longer to keep her owing to his financial position he gave her proto to the note keep her quiet, and she told him that he could pay her if his position im his position in his position here.

Defendant denied that he lost the plaintiff any money and said that when he found he was unable to keep the woman longer he agreed to live with her for a further year, she doing the housekeeping, and he signed the note on the understanding that he was to reimburse her at the end of the year if his position improved.

The case was adjourned to allow the plaintiff's solicitor to call the person named by plaintiff as the person to whom she paid money on defendant's behalf.

NAVY'S TREASURE TROVE

"FIXD" OF ARTICLES WORTH £10,697. A curious story of the promotion of a man who had been certified unfit for further duty and of his pension thus being increased from £20 to over £100 (although he had been in the Navy only about two years) appears in the Navy Appropriation Accounts, issued on the 25th ult.

There are revelations, indeed, on a variety of topics.

The complete search of the dockyards, both at home and abroad, ordered some ime ago by the Admiralty, has resulted in the discovery of materials and stores valued at £10,697 which had been drawn from store for specific services and had not

The largest accumulation, valued at £3,440, was at Portsmouth, and included large quantity of ships' plates, cable and chain. At Chatham metal, timber and other stores valued at £1,546 were returned store. At the yards abroad the largest ccumulations were at Gibraltar £1,090 and Malta £1.061. The invalid who was promoted had the ollowing record: Appointed to the Navy as engineer sub-lieutenant on August 1, 1909, invalided in March 1911, and discharged to half pay in June, after being eported unfit for further service. The omptroller reports:-- -

"Although it had been certified by the naval medical authorities that there was no casonable probability of his being able to sturn to duty, he was prometed in November-five weeks before compulsory retirement-to the rank of engineer-lieutenant, whereby h s retired pay was increased from £20 per annum to £100 7s. 6d.

In teply to my inquiry as to the circumstances held to justify this increased charge on Navy Notes, the Admiralty stated that, as the officer was fully qualified, and his record in all respects was satisfactory, t would not have been customary or justitable to have passed him over for the step "In the Army an officer on half pay in consequence of ill health receives promoion until he returns to duty; and it ppeared to me that, throughout the public service, consideration should be given to the state of an officer's health as one of the secessary qualifications for promotion involving increase of pay and pension."

"Difficult to understand."

The Comptroller says he therefore reerred the matter to the Treasury, who find it difficult to understand how the officer in question could be regarded as fully qualified for promotion." have, therefore, suggested to the Admiralty that an officer who, by reason of lines; not contracted in the naval service, is on half pay, and unable to return to active service when required, shall not on retirement receive any higher rate of retired pay than he was entitled to at the date of his discharge to half pay or of his ailare to return to active service, unless he has subsequently completed a certain specified period of continuous service on

Bente Mall. TURCO-BALKAN WAR.

BULGARIA'S ATTITUDE. LONDON, March 29.

Reuter's correspondent states that Bul- of the King. garia will not cease hostilities till Turkey has signed her "condition of peace." Bulgaria considers that the advance to Chatalia may expedite peace by compelling Turkey to acknowledge defeat. Meanwhile, Bulgaria has communicated her reply to the Allies regarding her proposals to the Powers. She demands the frontier from Saros to Midia and an indemnity if she has to meet a portion of the Turkish debt.

THE PRESENT SITUATION.

100,000 soldiers who were besieging 7 Cigur, and Hillside, 100 to 6 Lesto, the city, thus enabling them to advance to Chatalja and Constantinople. This is calculated to have an important effect on the situation. It is understood that that the Allies are in no wise satisfied with the proposals of the "Powers, which they regard as ignoring their victories. They may determine to insist on treating with Turkey direct.

BULGARIANS IN ADRIANOPLE

A telegram from Sofit states that King Ferdin and accompanied by his sons and "Generals Savoff, Ivanoff and Petroff, entered Adrianople and drove through masses of Turkish prisoners to .the Military Club, where Chukri Pashn and his staff were. After a review of the Bulgarian troops the King received Chukri Pasha, who surrendered his sword, which the King, with flattering expressions, returned.

THE AMERICAN TORNADO.

ENORMOUS LOSSES. "

LONDON, March 28. Western Pennsylvania, the northern portion of West Virginia, and Kentucky are now threatened with serious inundations. Part of Pittsburg and Wheeling are already under water. The Mississippi in Arkansas has risen 37ft. The Secretary for War has gone with a garrison to Ohio to supervise relief operations.

The losses to the railways of Ohio and Indiana are already estimated at fifteen million dollars, and the losses through the closing of the steel plant mills will be immense.

THE LATE KING OF GREECE.

LONDON, March 28. . The yacht Amphritrite, with the remains of the late King George of Greece on board, has arrived in the Pirmus, and was saluted by an escort of foreign warships. Members of the Holy Synod went on board and read prayer. The coffin, which was covered by the Greek and Danish flags, was borne ashore by deceased's sons and grandsons. King Constantine, Queen Olga, dignituries of the Court, and Cabinet Ministers followed,

The coffin was then placed on a gun carriage, and was drawn by 44 seamen to the railway station, where it was despatched by special train to Athens. Detachments of foreign seamen joined the procession.

THE LOAN TO CHINA.

STATEMENT BY SIR EDWARD

GREY.

LONDON, March 28, In reply to a series of questions on the China loan in the House of Commons, Sir Edward Grey said: realise the apparent hardship involved in the refusal of the Government, pending the negotiation for the issue of a re-organisation loan, to give approval to the enterprises which British contractors desire to undertake in China as far as it would mean an Government, but I am as fully convinced now as when the Government. embarked on the policy of co-operation with other Powers that that policy will be ultimately advantageous to British trade and industry, since in my opinion it is the only means whereby Chinese credit can be securely established, and conditions in China rendered favourable for industrial enterprise in the future. I am not prepared, therefore, to re-consider the decision to exclusively support the authorised British group. If this policy "fails and there is unrestricted competition to lend money China must reconsider the whole situation, but I fear it will result in competition between the different countries to get a political advance for easy loans on improvident terms. The Government has no intention of dissociating itself from the other Powers still approving the policy which was the basis of the Reorganisation Loan

PROTECTION OF BIRDS.

Wearing of Egret Plumes.

At the annual meeting of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, held in the Westminster Palace Hotel, on March 6, Earl Curzon of Kedleston, who presided, made a strong protest against he wearing of egret plumes and birdof-paradise feathers. The meeting was very largely, attended, the majority of those present being ladies. The Chairman, in his opening address. said the root principle of the society was that the birds of a country were among the greatest of its treasures. People prided themselves on the pitch of culture and refinement of civilisation to which they had attained, but he was not sure that there were not things done that were not far removed from the practices of a barbarian age. Boys were still allowed to amuse their leisure by despoiling birds' nests and breasuring up useless aggshells in cobinets; we still kept capive some of the most beautiful things of God's creation which were never inended for either imprisonment or torture; we allowed gamekeepers though te was gladen he had stopped his own-to alread the sand the harmless and serviceable owls; and, most strikallowed, women to satisfy themselves or with the plumage of the most beautiful and innocent things in the created world.

ing of all, we encouraged, or at any rategratify men by decorating their heads and in order to gratify this nefarious and bominable taste the whole world was ansacked and ravaged by the feather unters. (Hear, hear.)

He thought the traffic in the feathers and skins of birds was an appalling trafic, and there was not a good word to be mid for it. It was cruel in every way, but especially because, by a deplorable romy, the plumage most in request for the purpose of human adornment was durage which could only be obtained luring the nesting season, and the parents were not only slaughtered to provide t, but the young birds were left to perish by starvation. In this way some of the rost beautiful specimens of bird life in the world, like the egrets, humming birds and birds of paradise, were graduall; being exterminated. (Hear, hear.) three of the sales held in London in 1911 and there were six sales in the year, 41,000 skins of humming birds were sold. Was it, not wicked and contemptible? Whole species of these beautiful little creatures were being exterminated in the West Indies and Brazil. At the same sales 20,700 birds of parasise were sold. and some varieties of this bird had aircady become extinct, and others were disappearing with int saing rapidity. The case of the egrets was even worse. During the three sales to which he had reprevious to his arrest a list of names of price of Mid. American is nearly 1d. per lerred no less than 129,000 egrets were the month. The production of tex. extinct in some countries and was far conceive anything more desirable than that legislation should be passed prohibi ing the importation into this country and the wearing of the plumage of birds peradisc, humming blads, and egrets. women, and the co-operation of foreign countries should be sought in this matter (Hoar, hear.) Mr. Montagn Sharpe, chairman of the amperor. compil, mentioned that experiments were being set on foot with the object of lessening the loss of bird life at the lighthouses and lightships round the coust. Sir Harry Johr ave striking slances of the commons value of birds in checking the spread of insect pests which give rise to diseases in men

animals, and plants. The Duchers of Portland was re-elected president of the society, and a resolution was adopted directing the council of the society to appeal to the Norwegian Legis of pole traps in that pountry where these ongines are still begal.
